3 GIs Are Released by Viet Cong

EDITORS— Associated Press photographer Horst Faas was one of four Western newsmen who witnessed the release of three American prisoners in a jungled clearing on New Year's Day. Here is his report.

By HORST FAAS
Associated Press Photographer
VAM CO DONG RIVER, Vietnam (AP) — The Viet Cong guerrilla leader raised his arm. From the jungle stumbled three young Americans, their heads bowed, feet dragging.

This ended unprecedented negotiations between unarmed American and Viet Cong officers in a paddy field 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

The first meeting Christmas Day ended inconclusively.

It was an unforgettable New Year's Day for Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones of Lynville, Ind.; Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Ocala, Fla., and Pfc. Donald G. Smith of Akron, Pa., all 21 years old.

They had been released ceremonially by the Viet Cong on Dec. 22, but they seemed doubtful until the final few feet to a waiting helicopter which took them to an Army evacuation hospital near Saigon.

As they stood in front of a fluttering Viet Cong flag, listening to interpreters reading the final Viet Cong propaganda statements, Smith mumbled: "By God, let's get all this over with and out of here."

Smith, a captive since May 13, appeared the weakest of the three. When the men emerged in file and stumbled across the furrowed clearing, he fell behind.

Badly limping on swollen feet and evidently under strain carrying his shoulder bag of personal belongings, he was urged forward by a green clad Viet Cong soldier.

Jones also was suffering from bleeding feet. He had been a captive for four months, and crusts of blood were visible between his toes.

The fittest of the three was Brigham, a tall broad shouldered

Holiday Death Toll Begins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's traffic toll climbed slowly in the early hours of the New Year's holiday.

The count reached 29 early today. The 30-hour holiday period which began at 6 p.m. Tuesday ends at midnight tonight.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 200 to 260 persons may die in highway accidents during the holiday.

For a comparison, The Associated Press tabulated traffic deaths between 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 30, and midnight Wednesday, Dec. 31, a 30-hour nonholiday period. The count was 107.

The safety council said about 95 persons normally are killed in traffic in an average nonholiday period of this length at this time of year. But it added that a higher concentration of traffic is more likely during a one-day holiday than during any other similar driving period.

Zero cold discouraged travel, and sometimes prevented it in a large part of the midcontinent. Added to this were hazards of rain and snow in the Northwest and rain, fog and snow in the Northeast.

'Only Yesterday' Is Remembered Theme of Music in 1968

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In classical music, 1968 was a year to cause the exclamation, "It seems like only yesterday!"

It seems like only yesterday that Leonard Bernstein was a boy genius, an infant prodigy. In 1968, he celebrated his 50th birthday and started his last season conducting the New York Philharmonic, before retiring to compose and be silver-haired elder statesman of music.

It seems like only yesterday that Maria Callas and Renata Tebaldi were fighting the Metropolitan Opera's most fiery feud. On Met opening night, 1968, they came face to face backstage and executed, not each other,

Bitter Cold Grips Nation on New Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bitter-cold weather numbed the nation's midsection today while snow, rain and fog plagued holiday travelers in the Pacific Northwest and parts of the Northeast.

The wind-blown blast of arctic air eased its grip on the Rockies and western plains, held firm in the Midwest and bore down on the South and East.

Temperatures which failed to rise even to zero during the day Tuesday in portions of the Midwest, skidded well below before dawn. Fargo, N.D., residents rang in the new year in -24 degree weather. Readings near 10 below extended southward across northern Illinois.

The "Deep South" hit by a succession of cold waves, again was stung by hard freeze as the mercury fell into the lower 20s across northern Alabama and Georgia. Temperatures tumbled into the low teens in Virginia and Tennessee.

The intense cold rose wind gusts of 30 and 40 miles an hour. It snapped power lines and left several thousand Chicago area residents without heat for two to three hours Tuesday while the temperature hovered near zero.

Gale-force winds lashed portions of the eastern Great Lakes with snow squalls. Travelers warnings were issued for the north Atlantic states as a developing storm rolled up the coast. Rain and fog posed a double threat to holiday motorists in New England, and where these elements were lacking locally heavy snow pasted some northern sections.

A storm that dumped 10 to 12 inches of snow into the Pacific Northwest over three days tapered off slightly, but a new storm system off the coast spilled rain into western Washington and Oregon.

Although rain helped wash away the traffic-clogging snow, nighttime temperatures near freezing glazed some highways with ice. Travelers warnings continued over parts of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana. Glowing and drifting snow reduced visibilities through the Columbia Gorge and the Cascades.

Mild weather again favored the far Southwest as well as Florida, where Key West had an overnight low temperature of 73.

Boy Killed Fleeing From Stolen Car

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — A 13-year-old Negro boy was fatally wounded Tuesday by a Pine Bluff policeman when the youth allegedly fled from a stolen vehicle, authorities reported.

Police said Roosevelt Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Johnson of Pine Bluff, was shot once by Patrolman Bill Goodman as the youth fled the vehicle at a Pine Bluff intersection.

Dr. E. Frank Reed Jr., Jefferson County coroner, said the eighth grade boy died of shock and loss of blood from a bullet wound in the left hip through the abdomen.

but a genteel embrace. And so on. Pianist Dave Brubeck led a respected jazz quartet for 16 years. In 1968, his first classical composition was given its world premiere by the Cincinnati Symphony, an oratorio, "The Light in the Wilderness." Critics applauded.

The New Jersey Symphony in Newark became the first major U.S. symphony to name a Negro as music director. Henry Lewis, 35, who also had been the first Negro to play in a major U.S. orchestra—double bass in the Los Angeles Philharmonic—picked up the baton in June.

Selji Ozawa, Japanese-born 32-year-old conductor, was hired by the San Francisco Symphony.

Vladimir Horowitz played the first uninterrupted piano recital on television.

The Santa Fe Opera built a new opera house, replacing the one that burned in 1967, and included in the "initiation" season two U.S. premieres of 12-tone operas, Arnold Schoenberg's "Jacob's Ladder" and Hans Werner Henze's "The Bassarids." The St. Louis Symphony got a new home, too, a converted movie palace, Powell Symphony Hall, replacing Klei Auditorium, which it had shared with a sports arena.

Among the premieres of the year were "Eleventh Symphony" by Roy Harris, 70, g'sixth Symphony" by Howard Hanson, 71, "Eighth Symphony" by Roger Sessions, 71, all by the New York Philharmonic;

"Piano Concerto No. 2" by Benjamin Lees, 44, by the Boston Symphony and pianist Gary Graffman, who termed the work "major;" "Symphony No. 1" by Oliver Knussen, 15, the composer conducting the London Symphony; and "The Was called very promising."

Germany's best-known composer, Carl Orff, 77, who wrote "Carmina Burana" in 1936, saw the premiere of his "Prometheus Bound" by the Stuttgart Opera.

France's best-known composer, Claude Debussy, 77, who wrote "The Sea" in 1905, saw the premiere of his "Prometheus Bound" by the Stuttgart Opera.

Terrorists Bomb N.Y. Police Hdqs.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A bomb bounced off a window and exploded early today at Jersey City's Fifth Precinct police station, which was sprayed with machine gun bullets from a car Nov. 29.

No one was injured in the bombing and no arrests were made.

Mayor Timothy J. Whalen said the bombing was "an act of terrorism that follows the same pattern of earlier incidents."

Three persons who say they are members of the Black Panther party are accused of the machine gun attack.

Whalen has asked Gov. Richard Hughes and the New Jersey Investigation Commission for a probe of the Black Panthers.

While declining to accuse the Black Panthers directly, the mayor said, "After the machine gun attack we pretty well did away with the Panther party in Jersey City. Therefore if this is a Panther attack, chances are very good that it was perpetrated by Panthers from Newark or other parts of the state."

Parting Shot From LBJ; A Tax Bundle

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, beating a year-end deadline by a few hours, has submitted to Congress a package of tax reform proposals prepared by the Treasury Department.

But in a letter to House and Senate leaders accompanying the proposals, Johnson said he has not examined them and is making no recommendations concerning them.

It is up to the incoming administration of Richard M. Nixon to decide what action, if any, to take, he said.

Only Johnson's letter was released by the Texas White House Tuesday night. No details were given on the proposals, which were prepared by Treasury Department specialists on tax policy.

Johnson called for comprehensive tax reforms two years ago and promised to submit proposals to Congress.

But he wanted them separated from the tax surcharge he requested at the same time. Congress delayed action on the tax increase until last summer, and Johnson held up his reform proposals.

When the tax bill finally passed, it included a provision calling on Johnson to submit proposals by Dec. 31 for overhauling the Internal Revenue code. Johnson met the deadline with little over three hours to spare.

In his letters to House Speaker John W. McCormack and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Senate's presiding officer, Johnson said he had discussed the requirement for tax reform proposals with congressional leaders in the tax field.

"We believe," he said, "that in justice to the administration that will take office within the next month and who will have to live with and administer any legislation passed, it is only appropriate that they have the opportunity to examine carefully and make their judgment on

4 Arkansans Killed in Road Crash

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Four persons, including one Arkansan, were killed today in a two-car head-on collision on Interstate 240 in Memphis.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol identified the dead as Larry Duane Davis, 22, a substitute fireman from Marianna, Ark., and Colin R. Barcelona, 23, his wife, Mary Ann, 28, and Brenda Carleen Burrows, 25, all of Memphis.

2 Runaway Boys Held for Parents

Two runaway boys were picked up Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. on East Third St. by State Troopers Wallace Martin and Bob Neal.

David M. Denton, 14, and Mark A. Sherrill, 16, both of Moundville, Illinois, were taken to Hope police headquarters and are being held in Hempstead County jail pending the arrival of their parents. Denton is charged with driving without a license.

Joe T. Burlingame, director of the division, said several counties made complete reassessments to get their ratios up and that others made only partial reassessments.

He indicated that several of those making only partial reassessments might be in trouble again this year.

State law requires counties to assess property at 20 per cent of true value or more. If they fall below 18 per cent in the July ratings, they have six months in which to raise the assessments to that level. If they fail by December 31, state turnback for the county and city governments and the schools districts is withheld.

Counties that were below 18 per cent in July were: Calhoun, Conway, Drew, Franklin, Howard, Pope, Van Buren and Woodruff.

U.S. Officer Made Escape From Red Prison on His Own

By GEORGE ESFER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, (AP) — The U.S. Command said today a Green Beret, officer held captive by the Viet Cong more than five years "overpowered an armed enemy guard and escaped."

Earlier it had been reported that Maj. James N. Rowe of McAllen, Tex., had been freed by troops of South Vietnam's 21st Infantry Division during a sweep in the Mekong Delta Tuesday.

Three other U.S. prisoners were released by the Viet Cong at a meeting between U.S. and Viet Cong representatives to

First Barges Come Up the Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two barges loaded with 1,200 tons of steel and pushed by the towboat Arkansas Traveler churned into the Arkansas River waterway Tuesday en route to Little Rock during the first commercial barge trip on the newly navigable river.

A ceremony is scheduled at Little Rock for when it arrives Saturday.

The steel, from U.S. Steel Corp. and Wheeling-Pittsburg Steel Corp., will be delivered to the port of Little Rock and is destined for the Arkansas Foundry Co. at Little Rock and Ward Body Works at Conway.

The Arkansas is navigable to Little Rock. The shipments are the forerunners of what experts predict will be an annual 13 million tons to be carried on the waterway after completion of the 450-mile navigation route to Catoosa, Okla.

5 Stores in Pine Bluff Hit by Fire

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Fire believed caused by an explosion damaged five stores here Tuesday night — heavily damaging two of them.

Fire Chief Joe Edwards said an explosion on the second floor of Stacy's Department Store set a fire that spread flames to Reeds Drug Store and Bram Jewelers.

Reeds and Brams was heavily damaged while Stacy had minor fire damage. Frogg's Department Store and Carpetland in adjacent buildings suffered smoke damage. There was not an immediate estimate on the loss.

Edwards said the cause of the explosion had not been determined. Firemen fought the blaze more than three hours before it was under control.

8 Counties Repair Tax Position

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Assessment Coordination Division reported Tuesday that all eight counties that fell below the legal minimum on property assessments in July raised them enough to avoid having part of their state aid withheld.

Joe T. Burlingame, director of the division, said several counties made complete reassessments to get their ratios up and that others made only partial reassessments.

He indicated that several of those making only partial reassessments might be in trouble again this year.

Israel Is Censored on Arab Blow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The U.N. Security Council condemned Israel Tuesday night for its "premeditated military action" in attacking Beirut International Airport. It was the third council condemnation of Israel in 10 months, and Israel replied once more by denouncing the council.

Meanwhile, an Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv reported that three persons were killed in a rocket attack against the town of Kiryat Shmoneh near the Lebanese border. The spokesman said the rockets were believed to have been fired from Lebanon.

The 15-nation Security Council voted unanimously for the condemnation and declared Lebanon was entitled to compensation for 13 civilian aircraft worth more than $40 million which were destroyed by Israeli commandos in a daring raid on Beirut airport Saturday.

McCormack to Resist Ouster Plan

By JACK KNEECE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack, under fire from a group of younger Democratic congressmen, says he knows of no one more progressive than himself.

On beating back a challenge to his re-election as speaker when the House Democratic majority caucuses Thursday.

"I'm not worried," McCormack said. "I've always tried to be fair and most of them know it."

As for those seeking to dump him in favor of a younger man, the crag-faced Boston Democrat said: "They will fail. But I don't want to comment beyond that."

McCormack has been House speaker since 1962.

His bid for re-election by the Democratic caucus is being contested by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., who told colleagues in a letter last week the House needs "new directions and new leadership" in a "time of trouble."

Nomination by the majority party caucus is tantamount to election.

McCormack, 77, touching on a wide range of subjects in an interview, described as absurd charges that he is failing to move with the times.

He said often he will reserve judgment on a given issue and his critics will say he is unyielding or too conservative.

"You take this reform movement—the movement for reforms in the House," he said. "I've been there that all along. But the bills they've had so far have been filled with holes."

"They have been bills that make it too easy for a man of wealth."

"I want to warn America—now listen to this. They day is fast approaching in this country where only the very wealthy can run for Congress with any hope of being elected."

"I'm not a man of wealth. When I first ran for Congress I spoke at street corner rallies. You can't do that anymore. Even if you speak in a school hall it will cost you."

"I have never accepted a contribution from anyone I have done a favor of any kind for. Never. Not once in my life."

"But this is where we're headed. This is the kind of thing I want to put a stop to in any kind of reform legislation."

He also said he favors installation of a mechanical system to tally House votes, replacing the present method in which each member in turn shouts his vote and it is tallied by clerks with pencil and paper.

Couple Die in Drowned Automobile

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — A Lawrence County couple were found dead in their car Tuesday on Arkansas 361, a gravel road, about 30 miles southwest of Walnut Ridge.

Roy S. Hughes, 58, of Aliota, and his wife, Lorene, 59, apparently drowned when their car dipped into a low spot on the road, according to coroner W. C. Bryan of Walnut Ridge.

The Hughes, last seen Sunday, were believed out looking at the high water from heavy rains over the weekend. The accident occurred in an isolated area near Lake Howard.

State Police were still investigating the accident.

Marshall Is Killed in Robbery

HUGHES, Ark. (AP) — A town marshal investigating an armed robbery report at a small store near Hughes was shot to death Tuesday night by a barrage of bullets.

Police said four persons — one man about 40 and three young persons in their late teens or early 20s — were arrested by State Police before they could leave the scene.

There was no shooting during the apprehension said Mack Hill, the town marshal at this east Arkansas town about 35 miles southwest of Memphis.

Hill said C. G. Morgan, about 70, was shot to death as he stood on the porch at the entrance to the living quarters in the rear of the store.

Hill said Morgan was struck by at least seven bullets and may have been hit by 12 or 15.
"They shot our man right off the porch," said Hill. "He didn't have a chance."

Hill said one bullet had been fired from Morgan's pistol.
Sheriff Clarence Montgomery of Forrest City said the four men, all white, were charged with murder and armed robbery.

Montgomery identified them as Franklin Bosnick, 40, his son, Franklin Jr., 17, both of Moro in Lee County, and Dewey Ray Murray, 24, and Danny Wayne McKay, 17, both of Pineville, La.

Montgomery said the elder Bosnick is an ex-convict from the Arkansas penitentiary and that the younger Bosnick, Mr-ray and McKay told officers they had been in reform school in Louisiana.

The shooting occurred at a small store about two miles west of here on U.S. 79. The store is owned by Mr. and Mrs.
James V. Catteys.

Hill said officers arrived at the scene quickly because of a tip from a farm employee who drove up to the store moments after three of the four men entered it.

Hill said the would-be customer, Jimmy Vance, used radio equipment in his vehicle to notify J. W. Helms, general manager of the J. E. Shannon Farm near Hughes.

AP&L to Expand in 1969

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A $62.7 million construction and expansion program for 1969 was announced Tuesday by Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Reeves Ritchie, president, said the figure included the start of construction on AP&L's nuclear-fueled generating station to be built near Russellville.

AP&L had a record investment of $66.6 million in 1966.
The company plans to allocate $36 million in 1969 for production plants; $7.2 million for transmission facilities;
$16.5 million for distribution facilities and $3 million for buildings, equipment and other items.

The atomic energy plant — called "Arkansas Nuclear One" — will be located on Dardanelle Reservoir six miles west of Russellville and is scheduled for completion by November 1972.

Other major projects included completion of the 530,000-kilowatt Unit No. 4 at Lake Catherine Steam Electric Station and completion of a 44-mile, 345,000-volt transmission line between El Dorado and the Louisiana border.

showed no signs of wear.

The two white Americans were unnaturally pale, an indi-

Waiting for them in the large

Standing formally in the center were the two top American ne-

Maj. Jean A. Sauvageot of Ak-

Facing the Americans was a Viet Cong field commander, in a floppy hat and dirt-brown shirt, and his interpreter.

The three Americans halted when they saw the crowds, and their guards tugged at their sleeves. Around were unarmed guerrillas, teen-age boys apparently acting as messengers for the Viet Cong, one girl, two old farmers and a 10-year-old boy with a tape-recorder who said he was a "radio man" for the National Liberation Front.

Chatman then ordered Brigham and the other two not to talk to anybody.

During the first 20 minutes of the meeting the Viet Cong attempted to talk "procedure" again. The tactic had resulted in the failure of the Christmas Day meeting.

U.S. team leader Gibney said
"I am willing to take the pris-

Viet Cong said the three pris-

They then called a recess. The Americans sat around their helicopters in the grass drinking iced tea, watching as Viet Cong with cameras swarmed around the aircraft.

On at least one occasion the honeymooners ate dinner at the Lost Tree Club, said William Robinson, "but mostly they did their own housekeeping."

Robinson, former publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, said he arranged the wedding trip to the club.

"They wanted it to be very quiet," he said. "They didn't want any publicity or ceremony."

Robinson said Secret Service agents whisked the young couple away from New York shortly after their Dec. 22 wedding and had them flown here. They left to spend New Year's Day with his parents in Phoenixville, Pa.

The cottage where the Elsenhower's stayed has two bedrooms, a living room and a kitchen where Robinson said Julie cooked their meals.

Robinson said Secret Service agents assigned to members of President-elect Nixon's family set up housekeeping in a garage adjacent to the cottage.

During the 10-day stay, Robinson said the couple "swam and walked the beach and played golf."

Robinson said the newlyweds left the cottage for Christmas dinner at Nixon's new Key Bls-cayne, Fla., home, a trip to the Bahamas the following day and to attend church Sunday in West Palm Beach.

He is the grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and she is the daughter of President-elect Nixon.

Scotland Yard's Top Man Retires

By GRANVILLE WATTS
LONDON (AP) — The British underworld received a heartening piece of news today. Scotland Yard's top crook catcher retired.

Detective Chief Supt. Thomas "Tommy" Butler, the man who tracked down Britain's Great Train Robbery gang, called it a day after 34 years on the London police force.

True to form, the quiet, publicity-shy Butler declined an official farewell ceremony, choosing to step into his boss' office for a final handshake with Commissioner Sir John Waldron.

It was the end of a story-book career, crammed with spectacular arrests.

Butler's crowning achievement was the netting Nov. 8 of Bruce Reynolds, described as a ringleader of the gang which pulled off the $6 million train robbery.

The silver-haired detective—now 57—should have retired in 1967, but he asked to stay on, convinced he could get Reynolds—one of the last two known train robbers—at large.

For five years Butler had searched for Reynolds to the point of obsession.

The hunt spread throughout the world—Tangiers, Toronto, Rio de Janeiro, Hong Kong.

He almost got arrested himself once while observing couples on a southern France beach in his long search.

The end came in typical Butler fashion at a house in the sequestered Devon coast resort of Torquay—Reynolds' last hideout.

"Good morning, Reynolds," said Butler.

Reynolds standing at the head of the stairs in his pajamas, merely shrugged his shoulders.

Butler joined the metropolitan police as a uniformed bobby—police constable 955K—when he was 22.

He spent four years tramping the beat before switching to plainclothes work for the Criminal Investigation Department.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

"NOTHING BUT THE GOOD"—AN OVERFLOW FROM CHRISTMAS

Dear Readers: For The New Year: A "Nothing But the Good" encore:

Dear Helen: I would like to tell you about my man. He is handsome, courageous, loving, kind, thoughtful, gentle, trust-worthy, and the boss. The sound of his voice makes my heart beat faster. When the telephone rings, I hurry to answer, hoping he will be on the other end of the line.

No, Helen, I am not a teenager talking about her boy friend. I'm a 31-year-old woman describing her husband, the father of five beautiful children. We celebrated our 11th anniversary this year, and I pray God will bless us with 11 more.

Maybe I'm a nut, Helen, but I'm a nut who loves her husband!—MRS. K.C.

Dear Helen: I like this version of "WHAT IS A GIRL?"

She's a bundle of sweetness and brightness and fun.

The beauty of spring time, the warmth of the sun.

She's innocence covered with mud, sand and soot.

She's motherhood dragging a doll by the foot.

She's a composite picture of giggles and tears.

Of tantrums, excitement, amusement and fears.

A bundle of mischief and often a tease.

A creature of moods, not easy to please.

Who can capture your heart with her pixie-like grin.

Or chatter and beg till your patience wears thin.

But obedient, naughty, mischievous or coy.

She's Mom's little darling, and Dad's pride and joy.—AUTHOR UNKNOWN

Dear Helen: I married a divorcee with two children, a boy and a girl. When we came out of the church to get into the car, after the ceremony, they greeted me with "Hi Dad." It's been that way ever since. I have never considered them anything but my own. We have a son by our marriage, and the three of them get along great.

This year we celebrate our Silver Anniversary. We have had an anniversary every month since we've been married, with a small gift of candy, flowers, lingerie, or maybe dinner and a show.

A word of advice to young marrieds: Never forget T.L.C. If you loved the girl enough to marry her, you must have showered her with remembrances before the wedding. So keep it up! It pays big dividends. And believe me, the divorce courts would go out of business if everyone would remember to say "I love you" once in while.

Our three children have married, but we have no "in-laws," just three more children, and six wonderful grandchildren.—HAPPY HUSBAND AND FATHER

Dear Helen: The only things you take to Heaven are what you have given away here on earth.—LOUISE M.

Dear Helen: We hadn't lived in this small town long when my husband was called away on business. With two small children, it was pretty hard for me to get out. Not a day passed that someone didn't call or stop by to see if I needed something. Even the drugist said he'd deliver whatever I wanted. We were invited in for supper by people who hardly knew us.

I've seen complaints in your column about the stand-offishness of new neighbors. Am certainly glad those in our town aren't! We're here to stay!—NEW RESIDENTS

Would Leave Hy. Commission Free Agent

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arml Taylor of Clarksville, outgoing chairman of the Arkansas Highway Commission, said Monday that the constitutional status of the commission should be maintained.

A Constitutional Convention convenes in April to draft a new document for Arkansas, and he said any new constitution should retain the present setup of the commission.

"It is necessary that the Highway Commission have an opportunity to make long-range plans," Taylor said. "The setup we have now under the constitution has given the commission an opportunity to do this, plus enabling us to hire a lot better personnel."

Taylor, completing his 10th year on the commission, will be replaced next month by J. C. "Jake" Patterson of Lavaca, who will be appointed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Taylor said that under the constitutional amendment approved in 1952, "there has been little danger of personnel changes for political reasons. We haven't asked a man when we hire him whether he was a Democrat or a Republican."

Taylor also said that he believes the constitutional status of the commission has enabled the state to get more out of its highway dollars "than people in most other states."

"The state of Arkansas will finish well ahead of the nation as a whole in the completion of the interstate system," Taylor said. "I am sure that before 1969 is gone all of the Arkansas construction will be put under contract, assuming, of course, that the freeze on federal money is released."

He said about 401 miles of interstate have been built to date in Arkansas and he said this was the most significant progress made during his time on the commission.

Taylor also said 2,500 miles have been added to the state highway system during his term.

Television and Radio

AP Television Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — To brighten the hectic days between Christmas and New Year's Day, NBC has begun a new daytime serial called "Hidden Faces," and it may take a little while to catch up with all the goings on.

This viewer did not get around to the newly hatched afternoon show until the second installment, on Tuesday, and while it was only a day old, a number of the situations had already progressed to a point where it was rather like straying accidentally into a foreign country without knowing the language.

The author of the show insists that "Hidden Faces" is action-adventure—not soap opera. But the plot seems like soap, the characters emote like soap opera characters and there is that special linkage of clichés understood by those initiated into the soap operas.

The second edition of the show opened with a handsome state senator about to drop a journalistic bomb in the course of a TV address. But first there was a touching scene with his wife and small daughter—they all acted as if they had met for the first time a couple of hours before.

Then he faced the TV cameras and came out foursquare against the pollution of the air and water.

At this point, the action moved to another set where an obviously distraught young woman with long blonde hair was hysterically complaining about her life and about wanting her child back. She was addressing an evil-looking fellow who was assuring her that if he'd just go ahead with the plan, she'd get the child.

Then there was a third segment involving a pretty girl in a nurse uniform receiving flowers from a fellow subsequently identified as her fiancé. He was obviously a good guy and since they were talking about a case he was involved in, a lawyer.

One suspects that he, not the evil looking man, will be around "Hidden Faces" for a long time. Not much really happened during the half hour except that toward the end, the evil looking man was plucking at his sideburns and it became obvious he was wearing a plastic mask.

Will the politician clean up air pollution? Will the blonde get the baby back? Will the lawyer

For our first hand of 1969 we have one either played or concocted by St. John Ingram of Kent, England. Mr. Ingram merely said that West opened one heart and after North doubled four hearts South took out to five clubs. So, if you don't like the way the bidding is shown in the box don't blame us.

A queen of diamonds led by West would effectively defeat the five-club contract as would a shift to that same card at trick two but no one can criticize West for continuing spades after his king held the first trick.

South ruffed the second spade and led a club to East's ace. East could see the possibility of a spade heart squeeze against his partner and tried to break it up by immediately playing a heart. This lead did break up the simple squeeze but led to a most interesting end position with South making his contract by eventually finessing against East's 10 of diamonds.

The play is unusual but the development was automatic for a player of Mr. Ingram's caliber. South simply took dummy's ace of hearts, ruffed a spade to see if the queen would fall; entered dummy with the king of trumps, ruffed a heart just to see about the jack and proceeded to run off all his trumps.

Dummy's last four cards win his case? It will take months to find out, and—darn—"Hidden Faces" was pre-empted today for the Rose Parade and football.

New British Liner Has Test Trouble

ABOARD THE QUEEN ELIZABETH (AP) — Britannia's newest ocean pride, the liner Queen Elizabeth 2, steamed homeward at half speed today amid a growing uproar over her trouble-filled shakedown cruise.

The Cunard Line announced it had refused to accept delivery of the 65,000-ton ship, which cost $69.8 million, until the builders cleared up "thermal expansion" problems in the ship's two turbine engines and completed their work in the passenger and service areas.

Making 14 knots, the liner was expected to reach Southampton Thursday. The repairs are expected to take at least three weeks, and Sir Basil Smallpiece, Cunard's chairman, canceled a warmup four-day cruise Jan. 10 and the new Queen's maiden transatlantic voyage to New York on Jan. 17.

More than 3,000 persons had been booked for the two trips.

In Britain, demands increased for a government inquiry into the QE2's troubles. About two thirds of her construction costs were paid from government loans. Newspaper commentawere the jack of spades, 10 of hearts and king-five of diamonds. It was essential to throw the nine of diamonds and hold the five.

West's last four cards were queen of spades, jack of hearts and queen-jack of diamonds and he was forced to let one of his diamond honors go.

Now South discarded the spade or heart from dummy, led a diamond to the king and made the last two tricks by finessing against East's 10 of diamonds.

tore all agreed the ship's faults went beyond the troubles expected on any shakedown cruise.

The public wants a complete account of what went wrong, how it happened and where the blame is to be laid," said the Daily Express.

The Daily Telegraph commented: "For an acceptance trial to be failed by a ship of such prestige must be unprecedented in modern times."

The liner left the Clyde-side shipyard in Scotland last month for speed trials during which it developed an oil leak that forced cancellation of a Christmas charity cruise.

It sailed Dec. 23 from Greenock, Scotland for a 10-day shakedown cruise to the Canary Islands. Aboard were 500 Cunard employees and their families to test the ship's facilities and 250 workmen who were to complete outfitting the vessel.

Engine trouble developed Christmas Eve, when the starboard high pressure turbine started running rough. The rotors in the turbine were found to be out of balance, a fault that was later detected in the port turbine as well. Speed was reduced immediately.

Smallpiece and Anthony Hopper, chairman of the Upper Clyde Shipbuilders, which built the QE2, flew out to the liner Saturday. They conferred through the night, and, at a Sunday morning news conference, Smallpiece announced the decision not to accept delivery.

He said the general unreadiness of the QE2 "would not only prevent the ship carrying its full complement of passengers but would allow no chance to reach Cunard's standards."

"In no circumstances are Cunard prepared to sail QE2 on a commercial voyage until they are satisfied that they can maintain their standards," Sir Basil declared.

"The timing may be adrift, but when she's ready this will still be the most wonderful ship in the world."

John Whitworth, Cunard's managing director, told newsmen he was confident his company would accept the QE2 after the repairs and another shakedown cruise late in January.

U.S. Title at Stake in Rose Bowl

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The collision of the nation's top two teams—Ohio State and Southern California—topped one of the grandest football feasts ever served up for the fans on New Year's Day.

Eight of the nation's top nine college teams in The Associated Press' poll were slated for action before huge throngs and television cameras in a nine-hour binge.

As an appetizer, Southern Methodist upset 10th ranked Oklahoma 28-27 with 22 points in the final quarter of the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston's Astro-dome New Year's Eve.

Chuck Hixson, the nation's leading passer, connected with Ken Fleming for 19 yards and the touchdown that broke a 21-21 tie with less than three minutes to play. The kick for the extra point was good.

But Oklahoma, playing with two of its top stars out with injuries, came right back. Mickey Ripley hit Johnny Barr in the end zone with a 30 yard touchdown pass with 76 seconds to play.

Ripley then went for a two-point conversion, but was chased out of bounds.

The national collegiate title was at stake in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., where 100,000 fans were expected for the matchup of first ranked Ohio State, 9-0, and second-ranked Southern California, 9-0-1. Only the 21-21 tie with seventh-ranked Notre Dame marred the record of the Trojans, seeking a second straight national championship.

Ohio State's Buckeyes, aiming for their first national championship since 1954, were favored by three points over O.J. Simpson and Co.

Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner and rushing champion, closes out a glorious two-year career with Southern Cal in the grand-daddy of all the bowls.

Here's how they matched up (rankings, records, television networks and time, EST):

Orange Bowl, Miami/Penn State, No. 3, 10-0, vs. Kansas, No. 6, 9-1, NBC, 8 p.m.

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans—Georgia, No. 4, 8-0-2, vs. Arkansas, No. 9, 9-1, NBC, 2 p.m.

Cotton Bowl, Dallas—Texas, No. 5, 8-1-1, vs. Tennessee, No. 8, 8-1-1, ABC, 2 p.m.

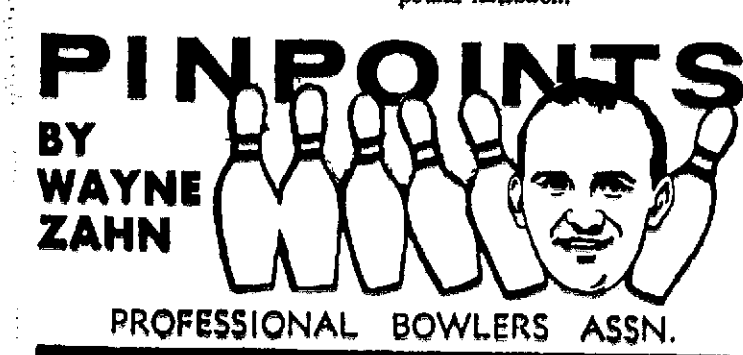

Penn State was favored by three points, Texas by 6½ and Georgia by seven.

The rankings of several of the teams could be changed by the outcome of the bowl games.

The Associated Press will take a final poll after the games just as it did in 1965 when the first six teams were involved in New Year's Day contests.

Alabama, which had been ranked fourth after the regular season, wound up as the national champion by crushing third-ranked Nebraska while top-ranked Michigan State and second-ranked Arkansas were knocked off.

While Simpson had star billing for the long day, there were other stars for the fans to appreciate including quarterbacks Steve Sogge of Southern Cal and Rex Kern, Ohio State's brilliant sophomore; Ted Kwalick, Penn State's All-American tight end;

Getting away from the tour a little bit, here is a tip for when timing trouble comes up. I have found a lot of pros have timing problems. Far too many of the amateur bowlers are having trouble with their timing. Too. And timing, 95 per cent of the time, can always relate back to the first step: the first step and the push-away.

We always used to teach the push-away, and consequently all the amateur bowlers got very involved in

Penn State, Kansas in Orange Bowl

MIAMI (AP)—Penn State and Kansas, a pair of sock it to 'em football teams, will greet the New Year tonight with an Orange Bowl clash that could well produce the most points of all the bowl extravaganzas.

Penn State, 10-0, class of the East and No. 3 team in the nation, packs a 34-point per game scoring punch. Kansas rolled up 38 points a game on its way to a 9-1 record. The Jayhawks are rated sixth in the country.

Kansas will be led into the battle by Bobby Douglas, 6-foot-4, 220-pound left-handed quarterback who broke the Jayhawk total offense career mark with 3,832 yards.

Smashing fullback John Riggins and darting tailback Donnie Shanklin also are vital factors in a Kansas backfield that has scored repeatedly from long range.

Penn State matches Douglas, statistically at least, with quarterback Chuck Burkhardt. He completed 87 of 177 passes for 1,170 yards and six touchdowns.

And Burkhardt also has two capable runners to call on. Charlie Pittman ran for 973 yards and Bob Campbell rolled up 785 yards.

But even with such exciting backs on the scene the key to the game could be a pair of giant, talented ends. They are Penn State All-American tight end Ted Kwalick and Kansas All-American defensive end John Zook.

Kwalick, noted for his massive hands and ferocious blocking, stands 6-foot-4 and weighs 230 pounds. His big hands latched on to 31 passes for 403 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Zook, same height as Kwalick but five pounds heavier, is noted for devastating pass rushes. Pro scouts call him one of the best at his position in the country.

Kentucky Romps Over Minnesota

It was a long time in coming, but mighty welcome when it did.

Sugar Bowl Battle of Sophomores

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—That old football adage that "you lose a game for every sophomore you've got in the lineup" is dead.

No longer are rookies always considered a liability by coaches, particularly Frank Broyles of Arkansas and Vince Dooley of Georgia.

The two Sugar Bowl rivals, whose explosive teams collided today in the 35th New Year's Day classic, turned the most important job on their teams over to sophomores this fall.

Mike Cavan quarterbacked Georgia, and Bill Montgomery directed the Razorbacks.

"I don't see how Cavan can ever be any better, because he has all the poise in the world," Dooley said. "I've never seen such a smart quarterback as a sophomore."

Montgomery drew similar praise from Broyles when he said his offensive leader has talents "that you can't coach."

The Arkansas youngster led his team to a tie for the South-west Conference crown, a 9-1 record and ninth place in the national rankings.

Montgomery hit on 130 of 234 passes for 1,595 yards and 10 touchdowns, and also harassed rivals with his magic on the op-play.

Cavan, slated for reserve duty until junior Paul Gilbert was hurt at the start of fall practice, was just as impressive.

The stocky Bulldog connected on 116 of 207 throws for 1,619 yards.

"Cavan's performance was one of the main reasons for our successful season," said Dooley, whose Bulldogs rolled to an 8-0-2 record, won the Southeastern Conference crown and are ranked fourth nationally.

Montreal is back in undisputed possession of first place in the National Hockey League's East Division, while those elderly gentlemen from Detroit just keep rolling along.

Montreal edged Pittsburgh 4-3 on third period goals by Serge Savard and Jan Beliveau, and Detroit blasted Minnesota 6-3 with the Howe line contributing five goals in the only other game scheduled New Year's Eve.

Montreal's victory lifted the Canadiens two points ahead of idle Boston, 47-45. And 40-year-old Gordie Howe took over the scoring lead from Chicago's Bobby Hull with a goal and three assists. He now has 50 points in 35 games, one ahead of Hull.

Savard's goal midway through the final period broke a 2-2 tie at Pittsburgh and Beliveau's marker eventually proved the winner when Gene Ubriaco scored for the Penguins just before the final buzzer.

Billy Harris and Bob Woytowich scored the other Pittsburgh goals and John Ferguson and Jacques LaPerriere got Montreal's first two goals.

Howe's line, with Frank Mahovlich and Alex Delvecchio—their combined age is 107—scored all but one of Detroit's goals. Mahovlich got the three-goal hat trick, with Howe and Delvecchio each scoring one.

Delvecchio, 37, also had four assists.

Mahovlich broke the game open with his second and third goals at 6:14 and 10:43 of the final period, giving Detroit a 5-2 lead and boosting his goals for the season to 19.

Philadelphia whipped Milwaukee 128-107 at Milwaukee and Detroit knocked off the Lakers 127-107 at Los Angeles in the only other games scheduled New Year's Eve.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana beat New York 123-105 and Kentucky topped Minnesota 117-98 in the only games scheduled.

Connie Dierring scored 28 points for Cincinnati, nine of them during a furious exchange late in the game, as the Royals pulled in front of Boston in the last period and just held on for the victory.

John Havlicek led the losers with 20 points.

Willis Reed scored 39 points and grabbed 22 rebounds in New York's easy triumph over Baltimore. He hit on 18 of 20 shots from the field. With Reed leading the way, the Knicks were good on 25 of 38 first half shots, established a 69-59 halftime lead and coasted in.

Dave Bing and Eddie Miles led the Detroit charge against the weary Lakers, who were playing their sixth game in seven days. The Lakers hit only one field goal in the last 5½ minutes of the second period, while Detroit poured in 19 points in the same span. That gave the Pistons a 62-48 halftime lead and the Lakers didn't threaten seriously again.

Bing had 30 points and Miles 23. Jerry West had 29 points for Los Angeles and Wilt Chamberlain 25.

Philadelphia fought off two comeback attempts by Milwaukee and breezed to an easy victory. Billy Cunningham and Chet Walker each had 24 points for Philadelphia, while Len Chappell led Milwaukee with 22.

Celtics Glad to Be on Road Trip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics went on the road today and, strangely enough, were happy to be away from home.

The Celtics, long-time kings of the National Basketball Association but now mired in third place in the Eastern Division, have had most of their troubles in the supposedly friendly confines of Boston Garden.

They took a 114-112 clipping at the hands of Cincinnati on the Celtics' home court Tuesday, lowering their home record to 10-7. On the road, they're 12-5.

The New York Knicks, on the other hand, couldn't be happier to be home. They knocked off Eastern Division leader Baltimore 121-110 for their ninth consecutive victory and 11th in a row at home.

Philadelphia whipped Milwaukee 128-107 at Milwaukee and Detroit knocked off the Lakers 127-107 at Los Angeles in the only other games scheduled New Year's Eve.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana beat New York 123-105 and Kentucky topped Minnesota 117-98 in the only games scheduled.

Nixon to See Game in Rose Bowl

By WALTER R. MEARS

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President-elect Nixon goes to the Rose Bowl today to watch Ohio State University play the University of Southern California, and he's not taking either side—he's taking both.

In a display of neutrality, he plans to spend the first half of the game sitting on the Ohio State side of the giant Pasadena stadium, the other half on the USC side.

As Nixon told it when he flew into Los Angeles Tuesday, a man about to become president has enough problems and controversies on his hands without getting mixed up in one about sports.

Nixon, an avid football fan and one-time Whittier College lineman, said he was spending part of the holiday in front of a television set at the Century Plaza Hotel, watching Oklahoma and Southern Methodist University in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

He apparently saw only the closing minutes since he spent the early evening taking Mrs. Nixon to dinner at a Sunset Boulevard restaurant.

But the Rose Bowl, he said, would be the prize match of the holiday football games.

If Nixon was publicly neutral, his wife Pat was not. She is a graduate of Southern Cal.

Nixon flew to Los Angeles after spending eight days at his winter hideaway in Key Biscayne, Fla. He plans to remain through Friday. A physical checkup and then a "welcome home" reception at the Anaheim Coliseum are on his schedule Thursday.

The President-elect said when he returns to business Saturday in New York, the first item on his agenda will be the appointment of three, possibly four top deputies to William P. Rogers, who will be his secretary of state.

Nixon said he and Rogers will announce their selections for undersecretary of state and undersecretary for political affairs. In addition, he indicated, a top State Department economic affairs officer will be named, and possibly one more official.

An informed source in Boston said Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson, 48, would be appointed undersecretary of state, the No. 2 post in that department.

He was an assistant secretary and acting secretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon said that the appointment of sub-cabinet officials is proving a difficult task because of the financial sacrifices involved for some of the men he wants and because business connections sometimes create a potential conflict of interest.

Frequently, Nixon told reporters aboard his airplane, it is more difficult for a man making a substantial salary but without capital to accept the financial loss involved in government employment than for a millionaire.

He said, for example, that appointment to the Cabinet is going to mean drastic reduction in earnings for such men as Clifford Hardin, his secretary of Agriculture, and George P. Shultz, who will head the Labor Department. Both are educators, and Nixon said their university salaries, plus their consultant fees and other income put both men in the $70,000 a year category.

Nixon said he wasn't sure how much he was going to be making as President. He laughed when a reporter asked whether he had taken the job without asking the salary and said he was not worried about making ends meet. The president is paid $100,000 a year.

CHICAGO—(NEA)—Nothing should be done to embarrass him, so let us call him Johnny. He calls himself Kid Chocolate.

In the early 1930s a flashy Cuban nicknamed Kid Chocolate held the featherweight and the junior lightweight championships. At the end of his ring career he returned to Havana. He has not been heard from since Castro grabbed power. Some think he is dead.

Nat Fleischer, the 82-year-old boxing expert, said he last saw Kid Chocolate at a fight in Havana in 1959, shortly before Batista's regime collapsed.

"He was sickly," said Fleischer, "bent over and he walked with a cane. It's like he disappeared when Castro came. If the Kid was in America, we surely would know about it. He was extremely popular. It would be big news."

Those who know Johnny believe he is the original Kid Chocolate. That includes his employer, Johnny is a handyman in a night spot on Chicago's North Side. His boss recalls the time a few years back when a guy tried to break into the club.

"The Kid flattened him with one punch," the boss said. "Yep, he's still got the goods. And what a fine, warm, gentle guy he is. Does a great job here, too."

The afternoon we visited Johnny, it rained darkly. Inside, in the muted red-velvet tawdriness, it was quiet and lonely. The only sounds were the plinking of rain on the window and the clinking of glasses and bottles being sorted by Johnny behind the bar. The club was closed.

Soft yellow overhead lights gave a tawny tint to Johnny's small face. He pushed his hat with narrow upturned brim back on his head, and the hat fell on the neck of the other Johnny in the long mirror behind.

"I'm feeling great, like I could get back in the ring tomorrow," he said, quietly. "But I am not sure my legs would agree. I am sixty years old now. Every morning though you can still see me doing the roadwork in Washington Park. I takes real good care of myself. Eat the right foods. Don't take the weed. Don't drink, neither: I just run the stuff you see here."

"You gotta stay sharp. I mean it's a critical world we living in. When I was champ I was like a rattlesnake. Still am, too. If I am rattling, you better be moving. Take the guy who tried to get in here awhile back. He did not heed my warning. You do not take no chances with this cat." He stuck his thumb in his chest. "So I popped him through the alley. That's how a rattlesnake do. He rattles. Woof, he hits you."

Old Year Is Gone; Bowl-Watching Is Order for Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The old year, the confetti and the champagne were gone today and millions of American men migrated to television sets for a marathon day of football bowl watching.

Ended were the parties ranging from intimate midnight suppers to a 30,000-guest Texas bash where celebrators bade farewell to the turbulent and troubled year of 1968.

But the air of festivity continued with the parades and pageantry preceding the gridiron clashes. More than 1.5-million people were expected to jam Pasadena, Calif., for the 80th annual Tournament of Roses parade.

President-elect Nixon was among the fans going to the Rose Bowl for the contest between Ohio State University and the University of Southern California.

In El Paso, Tex., an 87-unit parade through the downtown section caps the week-long annual Sun Carnival festivities today.

The New Year's Eve celebrations generally went off as scheduled from New York's Times Square to the streets of San Francisco.

Rain and the flu epidemic reduced the size of the Times Square crowd somewhat but there were still nearly 400,000 on hand to watch the illuminated ball drop down the 100-foot flagpole on the Allied Chemical Tower.

In Seattle up to a foot of snow put a damper on celebrations. Several nightclubs reported switchboards jammed with cancellations and many parties were postponed until Saturday.

One of the evening's biggest celebrations was held in Houston, Tex., where the 30,000 guest party required 4,000 gallons of champagne and 25 tons of ice.

The giant bash was held in the Astrodome, adjacent to the Astrodome where Oklahoma and Southern Methodist played the Bluebonnet Bowl football game earlier in the evening.

It was a quiet New Years eve at the Texas ranch of President Johnson. The president spent the evening with Mrs. Johnson and White House aides.

Did Stolen U.S. War Goods Go to Reds? Sen. Proxmire Asks

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire says he wants to know what happened to millions of gallons of fuel stolen from U.S. military operations in Thailand and will demand public release of an Air Force investigation into the matter.

The Wisconsin Democrat said he particularly wants to know if any of the aircraft and ground equipment fuel found its way into Communist hands.

Proxmire also pledged personal support Tuesday to the Navy civilian employee who "blew the whistle" on the thefts and claims he was abruptly transferred from Bangkok to a make-work job in the Washington suburbs.

Letters from the civilian petroleum inspector, John McGee, to Proxmire triggered the General Accounting Office investigation that confirmed the massive fuel thefts.

The GAO report, which Proxmire released to the Associated Press, said at least 5.5 million gallons of fuel was stolen in 1967 through bribery of military personnel, forgery of official supply documents and collusion.

It said laxity by officials responsible for the petroleum flow to military units made the thefts easier.

"One of the saddest aspects has been the story of the man who blew the whistle—who stopped it," Proxmire said. "He was put in a position where it was clear he would be fired."

The senator said his staff intervened with Navy officials to help prevent McGee's dismissal.

McGee was transferred to the Navy Fuel Supply Office at Alexandria, Va. He said his assignment amounts to "nothing more than a make-work job as a filing clerk, only there's nothing to file."

The Navy employee said he wrote Proxmire of lax controls over fuel deliveries only after exhausting other channels.

The Navy refused immediate comment but its travel orders for McGee said the transfer was being made to assure him an opportunity for complete presentation of alleged grievances, and at his own request.

McGee said he did not request the transfer. "The Navy wanted me out of Bangkok," he said.

He said the series of grievances referred to in the travel orders included one against a Navy attempt to fire him on grounds he had concealed the fact he resigned government employment in 1956 after being told he would be removed "for failure to pay just debts."

McGee said after he denied concealing his previous government employment and protested his credit rating had been perfect in the last decade, the Navy dropped the proposed dismissal and issued a reprimand against him instead.

Proxmire said McGee's transfer and any indications he was treated unfairly for writing the senator about the oil delivery situation in Thailand "certainly should be carefully checked into."

were flown by helicopter from the release site near the Cambodian border to a UMS military evacuation hospital 15 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen said they were expected to fly home to the United States Thursday.

Viet Cong representatives, who met with American officers to arrange the release 50 miles northwest of Saigon, gave no indication that other prisoners would be freed.

The three are Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones of Lynville, Ind.; Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Ocala, Fla.; and Pfc. Donald G. Smith of Akron, Pa. All are 21 years old.

The commander of the evacuation hospital at Long Binh said all three "appear to be in full control of their mental faculties," and "their general condition is satisfactory to good."

Li. Col. William Hammon, a neurosurgeon from Silver Spring, Md., said Brigham had an inch-long scar on his scalp and a slight impairment of his vision in one eye, Jones, he said, was wounded on the day of his capture and had scars on his left arm and right wrist.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam said in a New Year's Eve television speech to the nation that South Vietnam will be able to take over part of the war effort from the United States and other allied forces during the coming year.

Thieu, who had predicted last September that his allies could begin a phased withdrawal by the end of 1969, gave no date for a withdrawal in his speech.

In a New Year's Day message, President Ho Chi Minh of Communist North Vietnam said, "Our armed forces and people throughout the country, dashing forward with the impetus of victories, will surely win complete victory."

The U.S. Command reported no significant ground action today, but South Vietnamese headquarters said government troops aided by air support killed 50 enemy soldiers in a long fighting Tuesday four miles from where Rowe made his escape.

U.S. troops observed an eight-hour truce in the area where the three prisoners were freed, but allied forces throughout the rest of South Vietnam ignored a 72-hour New Year's cease-fire announced by the Viet Cong.

Sen. Dirksen Opposes Pick for Cabinet

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says Senate Democrats seem intent on making a record of opposition to President-elect Nixon's choice for secretary of the interior.

But he predicted Tuesday all of Nixon's Cabinet nominees will eventually be approved.

Dirksen defended Nixon's choice of Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel for the interior post as "one of the best Cabinet appointments Nixon has made."

The Republican leader said in an interview he will ask the Democrats who control the Senate machinery to hold informal hearings in advance of Nixon's submission of Cabinet appointments after he is sworn in.

A Democratic spokesman said the question of holding advance hearings on the Cabinet designees will go before a party caucus Friday. He said he does not believe Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., will order interior committee hearings on Hickel until the nomination is formally before it.

Jackson said he would leave the question of advance hearings up to the Democratic caucus Friday. He said in a telephone interview he would not object to such hearings.

Jackson said however, that those opposing Hickel's appointment would get a full opportunity to present their side of the case even if this involved continuation of the inquiry after Nixon formally makes the nomination.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has asked Hickel to explain what he meant when he said he was opposed to "a policy of conservation for conservation's sake" and believed it was wrong to "lock up lands for no reason..."

Vietnam's Ky Sets Up Office Apart From Paris Scene

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — Informants said today Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky is likely to set up a new headquarters for Saigon's peace talks delegation in Geneva after his holiday visit to Vietnam, while actual negotiators remain in Paris.

They said Ky, who flew home to Saigon Dec. 22, will try to continue his role as supervisor of the delegation and counselor to Saigon's chief delegate, Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, from Switzerland.

Allied officials said Ky feels he will be more effective in Geneva because he has become the focus of too much attention and hostility in Paris.

Two South Vietnamese officials returned to Paris Tuesday night after scouring Geneva and its lakeside environs for a residence palatial enough to accommodate Ky and his entourage.

They worked in secrecy, but the identity of the prospective VIP tenant emerged after the officials sent for the vice-president's final choice.

Ky is not expected to move into a new Geneva headquarters before Jan. 20 when President-elect Nixon is due to take office, sources said.

Ky, who led Saigon's negotiators into Paris Dec. 8, was a target of continuing discussion, sometimes highly critical. Some French newspapers made clear they did not think much of his political philosophy and a few French diplomats have made it a point to remind listeners it was Ky who broke South Vietnam's relations with France in 1966.

The 38-year-old former combat pilot periodically fed the controversy surrounding him. When he arrived here he stressed the need for goodwill in the search for a Vietnam peace, but then he spoke of "liberating Hanoi."

He told newsmen at a diplomatic party he had enemies to fight, but also "so-called friends" plainly meaning some Americans.

Recently, the 35,000-strong Vietnamese community in France became disturbed when a French magazine published pictures showing Ky's beautiful wife trying on a collection of clothes supplied by a fashion house. There were mutterings that this was undignified for the wife of the vice president.

Informants said such irritations cut across South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's original idea in assigning Ky to Paris.

The first cows at the Plymouth colony arrived in 1624.

New Editor Eyes Jokes in Britain

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The "whiz kid of Fleet Street" today became the new editor of Punch, Britain's most famous humor magazine. He promptly complained that today's jokes aren't serious enough.

"The kind of humor I like is the thing which makes me laugh for five seconds and think for 10 minutes," said 35-year-old William Davis. "People long for something which shows up all the absurdity and pomposity we have in this country and in other countries."

"There have never been so many targets, and I want to have a go at them," His persistent deflation of politicians as financial editor of the London Guardian brought him to the attention of Punch management.

"One of the things I want to do is arrange a world conference of humorists in London this year," he said. "Humorists are deadly serious people. They sink around all the time and don't seem to find anything funny."

"I think if we get a bunch of humorists together to discuss the problem of humor all looking deadly serious, it will make a nice change from all those international monetary conferences, which are really very funny."

Davis said Punch had gotten out of touch and no longer has much impact on British life. Its circulation is 115,000 weekly.

He said people now tend to identify Punch with dentists' waiting rooms and hardly anyone remembers its bland, suburban jokes about cricket and tea parties.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
Drugs Are Not Answer To Nervous Tension
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I perspire heavily, even in the coldest weather. Is this a nervous reaction? Would decreasing my intake of fluids help?

A—A nervous reaction is the most likely cause. You should keep up your intake of fluids to prevent dehydration. Such antiperspirants as AHR 483, benzoyl scopalamine hydrobromide and Oilatum Cream are safe and effective.

Q—Whenever I meet a stranger or have to recite in class, my heart pounds, my voice quavers, my hands perspire and I feel faint. My doctor says the cause is too much adrenalin. He prescribed a tranquilizer but it doesn't help. Is there any way to get relief?

A—In situations that appear to be threatening, not necessarily to your safety but to your peace of mind, your adrenals put out a hormone that increases your heart rate and muscle power. Its purpose is to aid you in fight or flight. If you do neither, the result may be sweating and a let-down feeling.

Q—What causes nervous tension? What are the symptoms? Is there any cure for it?

A—Nervous tension in moderation is essential to life but, when carried to excess, it can lower your efficiency. It may be caused by worry, fright, impatience or frustration and may produce such symptoms as headache, backache, a feeling of tightness in the neck or chest and acid indigestion. Over a period of years, it may cause high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and premature aging.

Although there is no easy cure for nervous tension, much can be accomplished by taking stock of the factors in your way of living that add to your stress, by eliminating as many of these as you can, by eating your meals slowly in a relaxed atmosphere, by keeping regular hours and getting some physical exercise every day and by learning to relax completely when you go to bed.

Q—I have heard that the male hormone of her twin brother prevents a twin sister from having children when she grows up. Is this true?

A—This is not true for any mammal, including man. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Modern Designs Win Awards

From more than 600 entries, 25 products won awards in the 24th Annual International Design Awards program staged by the American Institute of Interior Designers. Awards were granted only to new, creative expressions in the 20th-century manner. Here are some of the winning entries: Below, U-shaped frames which can be linked with other frames for children's sports; right, a push-button coffee grinder.

"Gyro" chair, above, is made of molded fiberglass for use indoors or out. Inflatable tables, left, come knocked down in a flat disk; can be blown up with a vacuum cleaner or hair dryer.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala.— (NEA)—The title character in the movie, "Dr. Strangelove," is a silver-haired German genius whose allegiance to U.S. rocket science is interrupted only by some embarrassing lapses into the past when his arm shoots straight up and he hollers, "Heil, Hitler!"

There can be no doubt what real man that character satirizes.

Werner von Braun. Von Braun worked for Nazi Germany throughout World War II. His brains helped develop the V-2 long-range ballistic missile which brought such destruction to England that some scars are still visible.

After the war, the scientist (and 120 of his staff) was brought to America, where his efforts were channeled toward building missiles for the Stars and Stripes—the Redstone, the Pershing, the Jupiter, to name a few.

There are still those, of course, who refuse to let Von Braun's past die. For them, whatever government he works for, he will always be a Dr. Strangelove.

But for Von Braun himself, the past is indeed buried—completely. Not only has his lem and providing computerized solutions.

He says sensitive instruments, looking down from an orbital vantage point, will be able to make crop surveys, predict yields, analyze trouble areas and provide answers to such worries as the absence of irrigation, ineffective fertilization and the peculiarities of soil conditions.

In addition, says Von Braun, man's eye in space will yield "an unlimited" amount of similar knowledge of all earth's resource woes — ore, water, timber. He envisions space oriented, computerized "earth resources management" which will one day be programmed for man's benefit.

The cost of such undertakings would, the scientist admits, be as high as its hopes. In 10 years of space study, the United States has already spent $30 billion.

But whatever the price tag, Werner von Braun says it must be met. Otherwise, he sees a shrinking, cruel world turning into a battleground between the nations which have and the nations which have not. In short, war.

And, as a man who ought to know, he says: "Anything is cheaper than war."
